ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to Sir Tasbeel Jawed for his valuable guidance, encouragement, and continuous support throughout the development of the Jenny Store project. We are also thankful to APTECH for providing the learning environment and resources that made this project possible. Finally, we appreciate the cooperation and teamwork of all group members, which played a vital role in the successful completion of this project.

SYNOPSIS

jenny Store is a web-based e-commerce system developed for a small home-based business dealing in cosmetics and imitation jewelry. The manual method of managing products, customers, and orders became inefficient as the business expanded.

The proposed system provides an online platform where customers can browse products, search by_name, add items to a shopping cart, and place orders online. It maintains accurate digital records and allows the administrator to manage products and generate reports. The system improves efficiency, accessibility, and overall business operations through digital automation.

CATEGORIES:

The Jenny Store system classifies products into clearly defined categories such as cosmetics and imitation jewelry. This categorization ensures organized product presentation, easy navigation for customers, and efficient product management for the administrator. Well-structured categories enhance user experience and support smooth operation of the e-commerce system.

DISTRIBUTION:

Products in the Jenny Store system are distributed in a structured and organized manner to ensure efficiency and ease of use:

Products are grouped under predefined categories such as cosmetics and imitation jewelry.

Each product is displayed with relevant details for clear identification.

The structured distribution enables quick browsing and easy product search.

It supports efficient inventory management and sales analysis by the administrator.

PROBLEM STATEMENT:

Jenny manages a small home-based business dealing in cosmetics and imitation jewelry using manual record-keeping methods. As the business grows, managing products, customers, and orders manually becomes inefficient and time-consuming. To overcome these challenges, a web-based e-commerce system is required to automate operations, improve accessibility, and enhance overall business efficiency.

REQUIREMENT SPECIFICATION:

Requirement Specification

Functional Requirements

Allow customers to browse product categories and view products.

Enable product search by name.

Allow customers to add products to a shopping cart and specify quantities.

Enable customers to place orders by entering required personal details.

Allow the administrator to add, update, and delete products and categories.

Generate basic sales and customer reports for the administrator.
